THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Evening Reveries—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

Tallers.
"Oh! could there in this world be found
Some little spot of happy ground,
Where village pleasures might go round."

Without the village tattle
How doubly bliss that spot would be,
Where all might dwell in liberty,
Free from the bitter misery
Of gossip's endless prattling."

Every community is cursed by a class of people who make it their business to attend to everybody's business but their own. Such people are the meanest specimens of depraved humanity which an all-wise Providence permits to exist on this green earth. It is well known that almost every person is sometimes disposed to speak evil of others; and tattling is a sin from which very few can claim to be entirely exempt. But the object of this article is to call attention to that distinct class of tattlers who make tale-bearing the constant business of their lives. Fortunately we have but few such in this community, but no community is entirely free from them. They pry into the private affairs of every family in the neighborhood; they know the exact state of one neighbor's feelings toward another; they understand everybody's faults, and no little blunder or misdemeanor ever escapes their vigilant watchfulness. They are particularly well posted on every thing connected with courtship and matrimony; know who are going to marry and can guess the exact time when the golden knot will be tied. They watch every movement of parties suspected of matrimonial intentions, and if there is the slightest chance to create a disturbance, excite jealousy, or "break up" a match, they take immediate advantage of it and do all in their power to keep people in a constant state of vexation. They glide quietly from gentleman to lady, from mother to daughter, from father to son, and into the ears of all they pour their dark, bitter whispirings of slander and abuse, and at the same time pretend to be the most sincere friend of those they talk to. Their black and nauseous pills of malicious slander are sugar-coated with smiles and honeyed words of friendship.

Tattlers are confined to no particular class of society. They belong to all classes, and operate in all. We find them among the rich and the poor—"upper ten" and the "lower million." In the church and out of it. They are people who have no higher ambition than to be well informed in regard to other people's private business, to retain scandal to their neighbors, and to exult in fiendish triumph over the wounded feelings and bruised hearts of their innocent victims. Our contempt for such graceless creatures knows no bounds, and we can find no words in which to express its infamy. What punishment they deserve we cannot know; but God knows, and as sure as his eternal justice reigns, they will receive a retribution proportioned to the magnitude of their offenses against the laws of God and the interests of humanity.

"A tattler felt a serpent bite his side. What followed from the bite? The serpent died."

Parental Example.
There is food for thought in the story that is told of a young lad, who for the first time accompanied his father to a public dinner. The waiter asked him, "What will you take to drink?" Hesitating for a moment, he replied, "I'll take what father takes." The answer reached the father's ear, and instantly the full responsibility of his position flashed upon him. In a moment his decision was made; and in tones tremulous with emotion, and to the astonishment of those who knew him, he said, "Walter, I'll take water."

You will not pass through this world but once. Any good thing that you can do, or any kindness that you can show to any fellow being, do it now; do not defer or neglect it, for you will not pass this way again.

Judicious Prayer.
No heart is insensible to words of praise or the kindly smile of approbation; and none are utterly above being affected by censure or blame. Children are particularly sensitive in this respect. Nothing can discourage a child more than a spirit of incessant fault-finding; and perhaps nothing can exert a more beneficial influence upon both parent and child. If your little one, through the day, has been pleasant and obedient, and you say to him, "My son, you have been good today, and it makes me very happy," and if, with more than a usually affectionate embrace, you say "Good night, my dear child," a thrill of suppressed feelings fills his breast, and he resolves on always earning such approval. If your grown son or daughter have accomplished some difficult piece of work, rendering you essential assistance; or have climbed some steep in the daily drill of study, or have acquired some new accomplishment, or added grace; or better than all, have gained the victory over some bad habit or besetting sin—acknowledge it, see it, praise them for it. Let them see by your added tenderness, the deep joy and comfort it gives you. Thus you will create a great incentive to right conduct, and lay a broad foundation for a character which shall be redolent with successful fruit and fragrant blossoms.

Don't.
Don't say "He" when speaking of your husband. Better say Smith or Green or White than simply "He." We recently met a bride of a week who always spoke of her husband as "He." It is just as he says, "she would say, instead of 'It is just as Mr. Smith says.' We would almost soon have heard her descend to the vulgarity of 'my man,' common among a certain class of persons. We do not know why any one should object to a wife calling her husband by his first name when among intimate friends, but it is seldom regarded as good form to do so excepting in the presence of relatives. No one, however, can object to Mr. Smith, or Mr. White. And don't say "Smith" for "Mr. Smith." If you want to call your husband "Darling" or "Love," pray do so as often as you like, but always in the privacy and seclusion of your own home. The people who "Love" and "Dove" and "Darling" each other in company are often the very ones who call each other by strangely different names when at home.

THE BRINK IS NEAR.
Few Portland People Know How Near It Is.

Every time you neglect backache, Allow the kidneys to become clogged, Fall to cure urinary disorders, You get nearer the brink of Bright's disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills will save you from danger. Proof of it in Portland testimony Mrs. J. H. Chase, of 72 Federal St., Portland, Me., says "In praising and publicly recommending Doan's Kidney Pills I base my strength on my own personal experience and that of other members of our family who have used them. I can also speak for a husband who was annoyed by a good deal of backache caused by a weakness of the kidneys. He was induced at that time to get Doan's Kidney Pills at H. H. May's drug store, and found quick relief through using one box. In every other instance in which we have used them in our family they have brought the same prompt and satisfactory results. Mr. Chase and myself recommend Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
"Has the social season been a success?"
"To some extent," answered Mr. Cramer. "I should judge that the money I put into it was enough to guarantee it against being a financial failure."—Washington Star.

His All.
Rambling Waggle—I was robbed last night, and I reckon that about 12 articles were stolen from me. Every thing I had in the world.
Rambling Waggle—Yes, a pack of cards and a corker.

Disatisfied Hair.
"Your ailment," remarked the physician, "is merely one of the ills that flesh is heir to."
"Yes, I suppose so," rejoined the patient. "By the way, doctor, what are your charges for breaking a will?"—Chicago Daily News.

He Health There.
Mrs. De Fashion—So you were at Health Springs during the summer. How did you like it?
Mrs. De Style—Well, the place is pretty enough, but I didn't think much of the water. It didn't taste bad at all.—N. Y. Weekly.

WIT AND WISDOM.

Brookroom Horror.
"Well, what do you want?" the proof-reader asked.
As he eyed the intruder with doubt, "I'm just loafin'," answered the typist.
And the proof-reader hustled him out. —Chicago Tribune.

Plenty of Trouble.
Is caused by stagnation of the liver and bowels. To get rid of it and headache and biliousness and the poison that brings jaundice, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, the reliable purifiers that do the work without grinding or griping. 25c. at W. E. Rosserman's drug store.

An Anomaly.
Agitator—Don't you know, sir, that in this country the rich are growing richer and the poor poorer?
Patrick—Then it's rich O! must be, for O'm a mighty sight better off than O! was when O! landed.—N. Y. Weekly.

A Twenty Year Sentence.
"I have just completed a twenty year health sentence, imposed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which cured me of bleeding piles just twenty years ago," writes O. S. Woolver, of LeRayville, N. Y. "Bucklen's Arnica Salve healed the worst sores, boils, burns, wounds and cuts in the shortest time. 25c. at W. E. Rosserman's drug store."

Not Capable.
At the close of a lengthened and bitter wrangle between a judge and a prominent counsel the former said: "Well, sir, if you do not know how to conduct yourself as a gentleman, I'm sure I can't teach you." To which the barrister mildly replied, "That is so, my lord!"

He Got What He Needed.
"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Partridge, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then that my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I have been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at W. E. Rosserman's drug store. 50c.

A Little Uncertain.
"I suppose that there was a very cultured audience at the performance of one of Sophocles' plays in New York."
"I'm not so sure of that."
"What makes you dubious?"
"The fact that I heard several calls for the author."—Baltimore American.

Death Was On His Heels.
Jesse P. Morris, of Skipper, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at W. E. Rosserman's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Wages Overdue.
Mrs. Uperton—What days does your mistress receive, Nork?
Nork—Fridays, ma'am, but what days she pays is what's worrying me most.—Chicago Journal.

Weak women get prompt and lasting help by using Dr. Shoop's Night Care. These soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories, with full instructions how to proceed are interestingly told in my book "No. 4 For Women." The book and strictly confidential medical advice is entirely free. Simply write Dr. Shoop, Berlin, Wis. for my book No. 4. Sold by H. S. Puscard.

Man of Un-Mailed Letters.
Mrs. Hoyle—Is your husband a man of letters?
Mrs. Doyle—Yes. He must have at least a dozen of mine that he has never mailed.—Judge.

Pain anywhere can be quickly stopped by one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. Pain always means congestion—natural blood pressure. Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets simply coax congested blood away from pain centers. These Tablets—known by druggists as Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—simply equalize the blood circulation and then pain always departs in 30 minutes. 25 Tablets 25 cents. Write Dr. Shoop, Berlin, Wis. for free package. Sold by H. S. Puscard.

Easy.
Bacon—Who was the first man to carry his house by storm, do you suppose?
Egbert—Why, Noah, of course.—Yonkers Statesman.

Stops carache in two minutes; toothache or pain of burn or scald in five minutes; hoarseness, one hour; muscleache, two hours; sore throat, 12 hours.—Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, monarch over pain.

Soft Fall.
Jinks—I never had much use for feather beds. I don't consider them healthy.

Blinks—Well, I know a man who says he would like to see them all over the country.
Jinks—Indeed! Who is he?
Blinks—Why, an inventor of flying machines.—Chicago Daily News.

If you haven't the time to exercise regularly, Doan's Regulax will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without griping. Ask your druggist for them. 25c.

High Flyers.
Asker—So this is a club, eh? Are the members conservative?
Teller—No, half the time they are up in the air.
Asker—Great Jupiter! What kind of a club is it?
Teller—Ballonist.—Chicago Daily News.

Itching piles provoke profanity, but profanity won't cure them. Doan's Ointment cures itching, bleeding or protruding piles after years of suffering. At any drug store.

Cause of Monotony.
Editor—Mr. Paragraph, I wish you wouldn't write so many jokes about men who can't pay their bills; they are funny enough in a way, but so many of them are a little monotonous. Can't you get your mind on some other subject?
Mr. Paragraph (thoughtfully)—Perhaps I could—if I had a little larger salary.

Most disgusting skin eruptions, scrofula, pimples, rashes, etc., are due to impure blood. Berdock Blood Purifiers is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes you clear-eyed, clear brained, clear skinned.

Taking in the Roll.
The automobile was going 50 miles an hour.
"We are now passing through a beautiful part of the country," shouted the chauffeur in the front seat.
The tourist swallowed another pint of grit and dust.
"It is," he ejaculated, between coughs, "it seems as though the country is passing through me."—Chicago Daily News.

That languid, lifeless feeling that comes with spring and early summer, can be quickly changed to a feeling of buoyancy and energy by the judicious use of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is a genuine tonic to tired, run down nerves, and but a few doses is needed to satisfy the user that Dr. Shoop's Restorative is actually reaching that tired spot. The indoor life of winter nearly always leads to sluggish bowels, and to sluggish circulation in general. The customary lack of exercise and outdoor air ties up the liver, stagnates the kidneys, and oftentimes weakens the heart's action. Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a few weeks and all will be changed. A few days' rest will tell you that you are using the right remedy. You will easily and surely note the changes from day to day. Sold by H. S. Puscard.

An Added Attraction.
"Yes, he's awfully good looking, but he's very dissipated and has led a fearful life. Mother says he's the sort of man we must have nothing whatever to do with."
"Oh! my dear, I can hardly wait to meet him."

"Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. This clever Coffee Substitute was recently produced by Dr. Shoop of Berlin, Wis. Not a grain of real Coffee is in it either. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee is made from pure roasted grains, with malt, nut, etc. Really it would fool an expert—who might drink it for Coffee. No 25 or 30 minutes tedious boiling. "Made in a minute" says the doctor. Sold by H. S. Puscard.

Accounting for It.
"I tell you," said the grating old miser of the family, "when I was a boy I had to keep my nose to the grindstone."
"I guess that's the reason it's so sharp now," commented the lad sitting by.—Baltimore American.

HOW MANY FRAMES?

Many Conditions to Be Considered in Determining the Question.

A correspondent asks what size bee hives are best, eight or ten frame. This gives me an opportunity to discuss hives, a subject that is very old, yet recurring again and again in the minds of beginners, writes Eugene Seccor. It is a question that cannot be answered in a word. Locality, management and the kind of honey produced all have a bearing on the answer. If one winters his bees out doors a larger hive is desirable than if he carries them into a cellar in the fall and out again in the spring, because bees consume more food out doors than in a cellar where the temperature is kept at a uniform degree and just right.

Ample stores are always desirable, and with a large hive there is pretty sure to be more honey stored in the brood chamber, and consequently the bees are more certain to have enough. And when one is working for extracted honey exclusively the large size of brood chamber isn't so objectionable, because one can empty the outside frames if necessary, but if one winters indoors and is compelled to carry these large ten-frame hives in and out in his arms, alone, it is no easy job. Another thing, if one is working for comb honey, a broader chamber may be so large that the bees will put a great deal of the best honey where the manager does not want it.

Therefore, for comb honey and cellar wintering I prefer an eight-frame hive. If the climate is mild enough to winter the bees on their summer stands with or without packing, and if extracted honey is wanted there would be no objection to a larger hive. The eight-frame Langstroth hive is probably used by more bee-keepers than any other style.

DOOR FOR HEN HOUSE.

One of Simple Construction Which Will Work Smoothly.

But few small doors can be so arranged that they work smoothly without binding, and the hingeless arrangement such as is shown in this sketch is quite a convenience. The door consists of a piece of one-inch plank, which is about 12 inches in diameter and covers an opening ten inches across.

The door rests on a cleat, the upper side of which fits the side of the door. It will usually remain shut when closed, without additional fastening, but if need be a hole may be bored through both door and the frame surrounding the opening and a pin inserted.

SETTING HEN AND BROOD.

Managing setting hens is not so hard as some people think. The most practical points are to have a good hen. Don't set a wild hen. After having selected the hen, then comes the nest box. A very good method is to use a small store box about the right size and place about one inch of earth in the bottom, then put in the fine straw. This makes a good nest. My reason for using earth, says a writer in Orange Judd Farmer, is that it holds the moisture and helps keep her away.

After having the nest ready place 13 eggs in it if the hen is medium size and 15 if large. Fasten the hen on so other hens will not disturb her. Let her off every morning on the ground if possible. If this can't be done, by all means give her some dust to scratch in. For feed, give her corn and plenty of grit. About the 21st day you will find a nest full of lively chicks if the eggs were fertile and proper care has been given the hen. When the chicks are dry, place hen and chicks in a dry coop and feed them often.

Long Beard to Be Sold.
A beard over 10 feet in length is shortly to come up for auction in London. The late owner, Amos Broadhurst, who died at Whaley Bridge a short time ago, was for several years one of the "freaks" at Barnum & Bailey's and Woodwell's menageries. When not exhibiting his beard he used to wrap it up in tissue paper and coil it inside his waistcoat. His mustaches when fully stretched were over two yards long. The sale had been authorized by the dead man's brother.

"She's putting because her new shoes are too comfortable."
"No. They don't hurt her a bit."

STATE AS LIQUOR SELLER.

An Experiment in Gwalla, West Australia, Results Successfully.

The West Australian state government's experiment in liquor business control at the mining center of Gwalla has now appeared to be a firmly established institution.

Within the last few days the new chairman of committees of the senate, Senator Pearce, has come forward with first hand testimony. He had stayed a week end at the state hotel at Gwalla, and has now told a public meeting in this city how he found prevailing conditions, says a Melbourne letter to the London Chronicle.

Senator Pearce found that the manager of the hotel was paid a good salary and had no interest in adulterating drink or trading during prohibited hours. The hotel was strictly for public convenience, and there was no more incentive to make men drink beer than there was for a station master at a railway station to sell tickets. The result was that there was no sign of drunkenness about the town.

When a man was disposed to drink more than he could afford or was good for him there was machinery for exercising control over him. All that had to be done was for the man's wife or relative to speak to the manager of the hotel, and then the barman received instructions that he was to be served with only two long beers a day—one when going on to his mining "shift" and one coming off. The miners called this being placed under the "beer act." No one, however, outside the complainant, the manager, or the barman need be informed as to who was on the list—except, said Senator Pearce with a sly smile, when the prescribed man himself lectured his fellows on their disgusting intemperance in calling for more than two drinks a day. On Sunday not a drink was sold or asked for.

The Gwalla State hotel, after paying all expenses and supplying a splendid table and excellent bedroom accommodation, now cleared a profit of $15,000 per annum out of pure liquor. The manager regarded himself as a guardian of the people, who would not give them poison to drink nor allow them to abuse the privilege of obtaining pure liquor.

Earthquake Philosophy.

Poverty has its compensations in some matters. Thus the Mexican people who live in one-story adobe huts suffer little from earthquakes as compared with their richer neighbors who live in more pretentious houses of stone. The earthquake shock reduces the sun-dried adobe to harmless powder, but it piles stone houses upon the heads of those who live in them. "Poor and content," says the poet, "is rich and rich enough." It is probable, however, that the poor would be willing to exchange houses with the capitalists even at the risk of earthquakes. It is the disposition of mankind to set small value on those things we have and to place a high estimate on those that we have not.

A Four-Decker Sea Pie.

A huge sea pie was served to a party of 50 guests at a feast at Gorleston, England, at which the member for Yarmouth was present.

It was made by an old trawl skipper and weighed a hundredweight and a half. It was a four-decker and was boiled in a vast cauldron for several hours. The keel was laid with beef bones and there was a triple bulkhead of short crust, the bunkers being filled with beefsteak and ox kidneys.

There were holds also stored with peas, onions, carrots, turnips and potatoes, and the hull was constructed of a substantial short crust that alone took a stone and a half of flour.

To Mine Russian Copper.

According to advice from St. Petersburg to the London Times, a syndicate has been formed there for the exploitation of the rich copper mines in Russian Turkestan. The syndicate has acquired rights over 15,000 acres of territory. The district is said to comprise the finest copper producing area in the whole of the Russian empire. The company will shortly be issued with an initial share capital of 500,000 roubles ($12,500,000).

Historic Ground May Be Park.

The historic place of Abraham will be dedicated as a national park at the centenary of the three-hundredth anniversary of the founding of Quebec, provided those most prominent in the commemoration are able to have their way. At present the place is marked by a rifle factory, and instead of listening to the demand that they remove to another site, the owners of the plant demand more room.

THEY'RE MOSTLY LIKE THIS.

Beautiful Faith of Woman in the Man She Loved.

"People think that because I am a woman," said Mrs. Hetty Green, "I can be imposed on; but usually they find out their mistake."

She was talking about a lawyer wherein she had disputed her lawyer's bill, and this topic naturally led her to the topic of women's trustfulness.

"There's a case in point," said Mrs. Green, smiling grimly, "about a young and pretty school teacher. She once asked her class for an original definition of the word 'wife.'"

"A wife is a rib," said one little girl.

"Wives are guiding stars," said another.

"A comforter," said a third.

"An inspiration," said a fourth.

"Altogether the definitions were rather prosy and commonplace, but finally a child of 11, smiling archly, said:

"A wife is a person for a man to find fault with when things go wrong."

"Good!" cried the pretty teacher, laughing. "Good! That is the best definition of all. The best, the truest!"

"But that afternoon on the way home from school, the little girl whose definition had so pleased, tripped demurely up to the teacher and said:

"Are you not going to marry that tall, handsome young man I see you with nearly every night?"

"Yes," said the teacher.

"Well, then, if my definition of a wife was true—"

"Ah, dear, with us nothing will ever go wrong. He says so himself."

MAKES PLEA FOR GAME.

London Journal Condemns Suggestion of Slaughter.

We remember the saying attributed to Huxley that the single ladies of old England are to be thanked for the superiority of our beef, because they kept cattle to destroy the mice that would otherwise exterminate the humble bees that fertilize the red clover on which our cattle are fed. Now come one is writing the Spectator to propose the slaughter of game in the Zambesi valley in order to prevent the spread of sleeping sickness. The proposal hinges on what we consider to be the mistaken statement by Mr. Anstey of the British museum, that the insect fly cannot exist long without mammalian blood. The other step in the argument is no more sure—namely, that the insect fly is indispensable to the spread of sleeping sickness.

The evidence is not sufficient to condemn the game of even a portion of the Zambesi valley. The animal that demands mammalian blood is, we fancy, far greater than the insect fly, and the fact that, unlike the deer, he is capable of writing to the papers, must not be allowed to prevail.—London News.

Philanthropy Did Not Pay.

"It requires a vast deal of courage and charity to be philanthropic," Sir Thomas Lipton was saying the other day, apropos of one of Andrew Carnegie's book bounties. "I remember when I was starting in business, I was very poor and making every sacrifice to enlarge my little shop. My only assistant was a boy of 14, faithful and willing and honest. One day I heard him complaining, and with justice, that his clothes were so shabby that he was ashamed to go to chapel. 'There's no chance of my getting a new suit this year,' he told me. 'Don't cut off work, and it takes all of my wages to pay the rent.' I thought the matter over and then took a sovereign from my carefully hoarded savings and bought the boy a stout warm suit of blue cloth. He was so grateful that I felt repaid for my sacrifice. But the next day he didn't come to work. I

PENALTY FOR LATE TRAINS.

A number has been introduced in the House of Commons proposing a penalty of $5 per minute on all late passenger trains, except where physical impossibility can be proven.

The late train is of course a great inconvenience, and if it could be brought to an end by an act of Parliament, the traveling public would welcome such an act.

It is generally believed that the late train is a result of the negligence of the railway companies, and it is hoped that the proposed penalty will be a sufficient deterrent.

The railway companies are to be held responsible for the late trains, and it is hoped that the proposed penalty will be a sufficient deterrent.

EASTER STYLES.

Fashions and Fabrics.

Among the season's new weaves, we note varied and beautiful soft fabrics in rich colors and attractive designs. Silks in soft satin finish and artistic patterns of figures and floral designs, are used extensively for dresses in princess styles.

Messaline is a silken weave of close fine texture and lustrous finish, highly valued for the separate waist with lace and inserts of handsome tulle for trimming.

Lansdowne is a favorite weave of fine soft lustrous texture, its beautiful finish giving it a distinct attractiveness. It is eminently acceptable and desirable. It now comes in the new bordered effects, and is known as "Bordered Lansdowne." The handsome wide border is an attractive decoration for the skirt, sleeves and waist, and it is known as self-trimming material.

For the semi-princess dress trimmed in tulle effect, bordered lansdowne is especially desirable. It is also highly favored for the double skirt now coming in vogue. This is a phenomenal silk season, and weaves of varied styles, colors, and designs, present an attractive array. Foulards appear in new and attractive styles. Cheney Foulards are in high repute in new styles of distinct beauty. They are of notable excellence in texture and coloring, and most attractive examples of the designer's art. Especially on account of their shrunken proof quality have the Cheney weaves gained a place of fame and favor, for silk which water will not spot is the material we want for a handsome and serviceable gown.

Shantung and Rajah are favorite silks, which lend themselves in attractive styles to the season's modes. Tulle remains a popular weave for the long suit and for gowns in black and all the fashionable colors. We have all learned that special care is necessary in selecting a tulle, as many weaves will crease and split and prove ruin to the garments of which they are made. Home Silk Mills tulle is of recognized high merit, its popularity becoming more extensive, being of exceptionally fine wearing qualities, warranted not to crack or split. These silks are used with embezzled satisfaction in the richest and most attractive costumes, combining as they do splendid wearing properties with softness, beauty of texture and rich coloring. They are guaranteed absolutely pure silk.

In coats we note the return of the long, runaway style; some of these are also in the practical box shape which has no seam in the back and falls straight from the shoulder.

Kentucky Hosiery Coats have won a place of fame and favor as representing highest standard of excellence, in elegance and utility. In handsome models and permanent rain proof quality, they are eminently desirable for comfort and convenience. Greatly to be desired by the fair daughters of Eve, are the handsome Kentucky coats, highly regarded as indispensable for N. C. 411.

Ministry's wardrobe. Separate skirts are seen in a variety of models, from the straight pleated mode, which is adapted for the striped and bordered goods to the skirt of many folds or those of some effects.

The handsome waist is made with the deep arm holes and three-quarter sleeves also in the longer style with deep arm holes, the longer being of silk, satin or velvet.

Practically all are of superior quality and beauty, admirably adapted to the season's needs for work, play and shopping. The variety weaves in both the light and heavier cloths are of great beauty and excellent quality. Dependable modes for the season's styles are clearly described and illustrated in the current Catalogue, and the patterns are reliable and satisfactory.

Many cotton fabrics include dimity, lawn, mercerized weaves, glass lace, and muslins in varied styles. Parkhill glazes show an attractive line of new styles with charming designs in color combinations, and are wonderfully like silk weaves in their pretty soft finish. The excellent quality, style and permanent coloring of Parkhill fabrics really keeps them in their place of unrivaled favor.

There is an exceptionally light and comfortable little pocket rubber, called "The Laid," which is easily carried in the pocket or hand bag. It is a marvel of ease, utility and convenience and wonderfully convenient when walking, shopping or traveling.

WILL ACCEPT.

Hon. John H. Harlow has consented to have his name used as a Candidate to the Chicago Convention.

We understand that John H. Harlow of Dixfield has consented to have his name used as a delegate to the Chicago Convention to nominate a Presidential Candidate. All have known Mr. Harlow for a great many years to be a shrewd business manager. Although he claims to be no politician we feel that a man who in his own native village has been able, by his own efforts and industry, to accumulate a property in real estate that makes him the largest real estate tax payer in this vicinity, and at the same time acquire the respect and esteem of his neighbors and acquaintances is a very good man to select as a candidate at the convention.

Mr. Harlow, although not a political wire pulling politician, has held the office of County Atty. for Oxford County, been Chairman of the County Committee, served on both District and State Committee and has also served one term in the Senate, and all feel sure that if elected as a delegate to the Chicago Convention he will fill the position with the same satisfaction that he has done in his other offices that the people have been willing to bestow upon him for his public and progressive interest in everything that pertains to the up-building of his fellow man and the town in which he resides.
